LIVING PORTRAITS

Walls/partitions, wood paneling and large windows divide a space into pure and exact volumes: an ideal gallery for the new collections characterized by linear shapes and enhanced by strong tactile and visual values thanks to surfaces and fabrics proposed in proportions made precious by the warm reflections of a bronzed brass finish. The new textile collection features warm colors: ultra mat, almost faded, shades create interiors revisiting, in a contemporary way, the suspended atmosphere, the geometrical design and the photographic approach of Edward Hopper, the American painter, elements which, later, have been a signature of the American cinematography of the fifties.

Essential spaces distinguished by an understated elegance and a well-defined personality.

MERIDIANI EDITIONS / PLINTO

A series of dining tables called Plinto is at the core of Meridiani Editions' second collection. Plinto, characterized by pure lines and an 'architectural' design, is an invitation towards interior design freedom, a container of endless combinations, thanks to which everyone can find the ideal table choosing among different finishing, forms and sizes.

Light structured metal bases in a black or bronzed brass finish match solid volumes covered in various kinds of marble, wood or lacquered finishes and are freely combined with differently shaped tops giving life to an interplay of solids and voids.

NEW TEXTILE COLLECTION 2015

The new collection features three new products: a cotton and viscose cloth, a linen texture characterized by a very tight weave and a cotton velvet, each declined in twelve unique colors and with a vintage feel. Pastels in shades of blue, yellow, green, plum and grey that can be easily combined with each other or with the fabrics already included in the Departures or Travel Memories collections.
